NEW YORK, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1922.

GIANTS SUBDUE YANKS, 4-3, THIRD TIME; NEED ONE GAME TO WIN SERIES; COLUMBIA'S FOOTBALL ELEVEN SMOTHERS AMHERST, 43 TO 6, ON SOUTH FIELD; MEADOW BROOK BEATS ARGENTINIAN POLOISTS, 5 TO 4, IN THRILLING DUEL

Rain of Waterloo Drowns Yankees as Fortunes of War Go Against Them

Mays Is Beaten by McGraw's Club 4 to 3 When Breaks of Game Crowd Upon Him in the Fifth Inning and Giants Gather All Their Tallies-McQuillan Makes Fine Comeback After Sad Start.

The Giants on the fourth day came through with a 4 to 3 victory in a drizzling rain. It will be recalled that it rained before the battle of Waterloo. Col. Tillinghast L'Hommedieu Huston, the man in the iron hat, saw probably the most expensive collection of ball players in the world vanquished. Rain, which mussed up the battle of Waterloo, mussed up yesterday's game and probably the current world series.

In the first inning before the drizzle started the Yanks got two runs. This looked like the ball game. Then the clouds which had been hovering over Coogan's Bluff started to drip rain. The rain continued from that time on. It soaked the customers, especially those in the center field bleachers.

The breaks went against Napoleon at Waterloo and the breaks went against the man in the iron hat at the Polo Grounds. The breaks were of a character which astonished the customers and at the same time dealt Col. Tillinghast L'Hommedieu Huston's athletes a terrible blow.

They crushed them and broke them The hand of fate seemed to wear a glove studded with iron spikes, and the spikes ripped the Yankees' chances of victory to shreds. But the Yankees supplemented the breaks which went against them with some of the weirdest base running and thinking ever seen in a world series game.

Yankees Weird on Bases.

This series has been popularly thought to be a clash of philosophers. Great thought waves have swept back and forth across the field, but yesterday it was not necessary for McGraw to do any thinking. He gave the Yankee base runners full rein and they ran away with themselves.

like a hero in the preceding games, sprouted horns and took on the appearance of a goat. In the seventh he falled to run out a drive to Heinie Groh, who threw wildly to Long George Kelly. Kelly, however, retrieved the ball, but Meusel put on the gas too late. Then Aaron Ward drove out his second home run of the series, and instead of tying the score the Yanks remained one run behind.

In the first inning the Yanks made four hits, Frank Snyder, the silent specific or a goal. In this final struggle for the trophles the Argentine team exhibited the finest polo that it is possible to witness. They not only scored two goals without a return but were in the Meadow Brook territory the greater part of the chukker, and it was the greatest misfortune that Lacey's free hit at goal, allowed for a foul, did not materialize.

The game was played before 20,000 people, including Gen. Persing, under conditions far from favorable, rain and mist troubling both players and onlookers throughout. sprouted horns and took on the ap- period.

In the ninth, with victory within the entire Argentine team played won-each, they again committed a series of control polo, but Milburn's defense and Hitchcock's extraordinary hitting defeated many of their opportunities to wally Pipp, the Michigan Pickler, tally.

The cups were presented to the winreach, they again committed a series of philosophical blunders on the bases. Wally Pipp, the Michigan Pickler, opened with a two base hit. Meusel hit to Groh and Pipp was run down behit to Groh and Pipp was run down behit to Groh and Pipp was run down beStoddard, wife of the chairman of the the drill, to all intents and purposes, tween second and third. Then Schang Polo Association. singled to center, sending Meusel to third, with only one ont. But Schang thinkers in the dugouts: Instead of one run in and a man on third and second there were two out and a man on third. A fly, with only one out, would have erabled the Yanks to score the tying frun, but with two out Ward filed to Irish Meusel for the last out and the game ended, a horrible disappointment for the man in the iron hat and the College Football Results

SOUTH AMERICANS RUSHED OFF STRIDE

Yankees' Aggressiveness Astonishes Visitors, Especially in Early Periods of Play.

By CAPT, H. H. HOLMES.

ecial Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HEMALO.

MEADOW BROOK CLUB, WESTBURY, N.
Y., Oct. 7.—The second and deciding game between the Meadow Brook Big Four, which were so successful in England last year, and a team of South American players representing the Argentine Polo Federation ended in a defeat for the latter by 5 goals to 4 after the visiting team had tried to overcome in a most brilliant and plucky manner a lead of three goals with which Milburn's team had commenced the eighth period.

EAST.

; North Carolina, 0.

; 20; Holy Cross, 0.

3; Kansas, 0.

n, 5; Virginia, 0.

a, 43; Amherst, 6.

hens, 7; C. C. N, Y., 0.

; 20; Fordham, 15.

c, 22; N. Y. U., 6.

outh, 19; Maine, 8.

tte, 7; Pittsburgh, 6.

College, 20; Boston University, 6.

State, 20; Gettysburgh, 0.

Jampshire State, 7; Norwich, 0.

1, 96; Ningara, 0.

strond, 9; Stevens, 6.

ington and Jefferson, 19; Bethany, 7,

ford, 0; Stevens, 6.

ington and Jefferson, 19; Bethany, 7,

mson, 28; Athright, 7,

a, 6; Lawrence, 6.

eyan, 21; Allegheny, 0.

agfield, 7; Vermont, 0.

lity, 18; Worcester Polytechnic, 6, wn, 13; Colb., 6.

Ann, 13; Colb., 6. , 18; Worcester Polytechnie, 6, 13; Colby, 6, 15; Colby, 6, 15; Colby, 19; Debuon Valley, 6, 16; Tech. 7; Glerces, 6, 16; Tech. 2; Glerces, 6, 16; Tech. 2; Hobser, 0, 16; Hopkins, 2; Mount St. Marys, 6, 16; Pij. Allegheny, 0, 16; Delaware, 0, 16; Di, Allegheny, 0, 16; Middlebury, 7, 18; Consettlent Actuacts Argies, 13; Connecticut Actuacts Argies, 13; Connecticut Actuacts

State. 6
Tenn. Loctors, 45; S. P. U., 6.
Auburn, 20; Springhill, 6.
St. Johns, 9; Washington, 3.
Arkansas, 22; Drey, 6.
Hendrix, 56; Magnolin Aggies, 6.
Millsaps, 39; Clarke Memorial, 6.
South Carolina, 7; Presbyterian C
U. S. Infantry, 12; Wofford, 6.
Virginia Military, 51; Roanoke, 6.
Virginia Poly, 20; William and Ma
Trinity, 27; Hampden Sidney, 6.
Wake Forest, 7; Elon, 6.
Loyola, 7; Louislana, 6.
Tulane, 30; Mississippi College, 6.
WEST. Tulane, 30; Mississippi College, 6.

WEST.

Wittenberg, 17; Muskingum, 0.
Wooster 14, Akron 0.
Missouri, 23; Grinnell, 0.
University of Iowa, 61; Knox, 0.
Northweatern University, 17; Beloit, 0.
Nebraska, 96; South Dakota, 0.
Hanilkne, 6; Creighton University, 6.
Minnesota, 22; North Dakota, 0.
Michigan Aggies, 7; Albion, 7,
Michigan Aggies, 7; Albion, 7,
Kalamazoo Normal, 7; Valparaiso, 0.
University of Detroit, 34; Duqueane, 0.
Coe, 24; Ames, 0.
Purdue, 10; James Millikeu, 0.
Chicago, 20; Georgia, 0.
Michigan, 48; Case, 0.
Michigan, 48; Case, 0.
Wisconsin, 41; Carleton, 0.
Denison, 14; Wilmington, 3.
Drake, 16; Cornell, 0.

WHITEY WITT, SCORING Photos by HERALD STAFF

REVENGE OBTAINED BY BLUE AND WHITE

Lord Jeff's Eleven Fails in Aerial Attack in South Field Game.

setback received at the hands of In the first inning the Yanks made four hits, Frank Snyder, the stient Toxan, made a wild throw to second and then McQuillan gave a base on balls. But the Yanks scored only two runs. Their philosophy on the base lines prevented them from getting more runs. They ran like moles, as though they had no eyes.

Threw Away Game in Ninth.

In the ninth, with victory within mist troubling both players and onlook-from the hands of Amherst last year when she piled up 43 points as against 6 for Lord Jeff's does not mean that the play was anything but brilliant. In the first two cleven yesterday afternoon at South Field during a steady rain. The Miles had a nasty fall, which with was suffering from an injury that kept him out of the game for more than a month. However, apparently this did not stop him from playing in his usual dashing and brilliant manner. The entire Argentine team played wonfive yards apiece.

was worth while.

did practically all the scoring for the tried to make second on the hit and was thrown out by Cunningham.

This, then, was the philosophical situation which confronted the deep shortly afterward a free hit was allowed the scoring for the locals, the former registering three tallocals, and the latter two, while Ben Roderick kicked a field goal and made several points after touchdowns.

eral points after touchdowns.

A week ago the Lion attempted placement kicks after every touchdown, but yesterday Ben Roderick attempted one end run which did not result in a score. After the final touchdown the blond haired Blue and White fullback was going to the another placement but Columbia Penalized.

Columbia lost a great deal of yardage as a result of penalties. Time and again the locals were set back, frequently fifteen yards at a time, and once when in the shadow of the visitors' goal posts. which precluded their chance to score, as chusetts succeeded in crossing the final etrip of whitewash, Jillson making the touchdown. The attempt to gain the extra point was a fizzle, Hill's kick be-ing short and low.

Clapp, who played at right tackle for the visitors and who gained a place on the "Little Three" eleven last season. starred on the line for the Purple while For the victors, Capt. Walter Kop-

For the victors, Capt. Walter Kop-lisch and Lou Gehrig were outstanding in the advancing of the ball, while Ben Roderick did not do as well as usual. However, his work could easily be con-idered excellent if it were not for the act that he had already done better. Bob Burtt, who tailled three times, did not do much in so far as actual carrying that Koppisch was unable to "tee it up." Roderick, who is always wide awake, scooped up the pigskin and dashed around Amherst's left end for the extra Over Herald Radio Tales

Continued on Page Four,

The Giants won again. This time 4 to languages, had his inning. This means that if a game is played to-day Bill to the same through every step ind phase of the rumpus at the Polounds. It rained throughout the conformal is a solution of the game throughout the conformal is a solution of the game throughout the conformal is a solution of the solution 3, and once more radio fandom followe: which precluded their chance to score, as the whistle blew shortly after.

After Burtt had scored twice and Roderick had kicked a field goal in the first period, Amherst began to show some real fight and ripped off four first. first period, Amherst began to show some real fight and ripped off four first downs in rapid-fire order, approaching the Blue and White's goal with an attack so sustained that Lion supporters began to get nervous and think that Amherst was more than had been bargained for. However, the whistle blew shortly after. But when play was resumed, the light warriors from Massachusetts succeeded in crossing the final control of the would be "customers" if business perchusetts succeeded in crossing the final McGeehan sat himself down in the Polo Grounds last Wednesday and started out to tell the would be customers, who would be "customers" if business permitted, just what was going on affeld. Since then the fans listening in have missed nothing. They say so themselves, not even the suspense of a ticklish situation or the thrill of a whanging hit soaring to the outer precincts, perhaps to decide one of these series battles.

While the broadcasted stories have been received by groupe of fans over a broad radius, the greatest crowds of the week "listened in" yesterday. The half-holiday made this possible and in many instances the listeners stood in the rain at the Polo Grounds and wouldn't have missed what they saw (or heard) for twice the ducking.

The service will be in operation again to day. Walter Trumbull kept the cars of the fans attentively glued to the rain at the Polo Grounds and wouldn't have missed what they saw (or heard) for twice the ducking.

The service will be in operation again to day. Walter Trumbull kept the cars of the fans attentively glued to the rain at the Polo Grounds and wouldn't have missed what they saw (or heard) for twice the ducking.

The service will be in operation again to day. Walter Trumbull kept the cars of the fans attentively glued to the rain at the Polo Grounds and wouldn't have missed what they saw (or heard) for twice the ducking.

The service will be in operation again to day. Walter Trumbull kept the cars of the fans attentively glued to the rain at the Polo Grounds and wouldn't have missed what they gaw (or heard) for twice the ducking.

The service will be in operation again to day. Walter Trumbull kept the cars of the fans attentively glued to the rain at the Polo Grounds and wouldn't have many fans listening in the polone of the control of the Clevalanders, tore big gaps for repetitively. The polone of the control of the Clevalanders, tore big gaps for repetitively. The polone of the control of the Clevalanders, tore big gaps for repetitively. The polone of the contro

RINGS PARK, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Broadcasting of the fourth world series game was received very clearly at Kings Park, L. I.
F. T. ANDERSON.
F. T. ANDERSON.

White Rowdy Winner of Fox Hunters' All Age Race

WARTRACE, Tenn., Oct. 7 .- The all age race of the Tennessee Fox Hunters Association was won to-day by White trace; with Heetman, S. L. Wooldridge,

Lemberg Wins Duke of York Handicap at Kempton Park

KEMPTON PARK, England, Oct. 7 (As-

McQuillan, New York's Own, Shares Glory With Bancroft and Cunningham

Native of West Sixty-sixth Street Pitches Courageously After Dismal Start-Shortstop Drives In Two Runs and Puts Up Master Game, While Outfielder Makes Astonishing Catch on Ruth.

Up at No. 20 West Sixty-sixth street on this tight little island of Manhattan-two flights up and mind your step-here in a room which yesterday afternoon took a definite place in baseball history. It was there, twenty-five years ago last September 15, that Hughle McQuillan first saw the light of was in the adjoining Central Park and over west among the rockrollers of San Juan Hill and the Gas House District that young Hughie laid the foundation of that pitching success which yesterday afternoon hurled back the straining, reckless Yankees as they fought desperately and tenaciously

SARAZEN DEFEATS

American Golf Champion Wins Humboldt, Kan.—these most often From British Titleholder in 72 Hole Match.

By KERR N. PETRIE.

On that picturesque knob of earth which won for New York. known as the links of the Westchester- only the native McQuillan who Biltmore Country Club on the heights of Rye and overlooking the course of the Apawamis Club, where he caddled as a boy and first dreamed of greatness, little Gene Sarazen yesterday capped the climax of a remarkable a New Yorker. Davy from Sloux City, a New Yorker. Davy from Sloux City. of Rye and overlooking the course of season in golf by defeating his great lows, gave one of the greatest exhibit rival, Walter Hagen, by 3 and 2 to Holder of the American open and Exclusively New York Product. professional titles Sarazen was pitted McQuillan, like Frisch, is exclusively against Hagen by way of clearing up a a New York product. After developing point much discussed this year by with various amateur clubs in Manhatlinksmen. Hagen holds the British tan he moved over to Long Island City linksmen. Hagen holds the British open honors. Since winning abroad he had demonstrated his superiority over England's great match player, Abe Mitchell. Sarazen was put to the test over seventy-two holes, a marathon route that it was thought would favor Hagen.

Gene came back from the Oakmont Club of Pittsburgh, where the first half of the contest was played on Friday, two holes to the bad. With the inspiration of holes to the bad. With the inspiration of holes to the bad. With the inspiration of holes to the boyhood scenes to spur him he had turned his two hole deficit into an adform Big Fred Toney and Walter Houliround. There was a momentary session of light sparring at the start of the fourth eighteen holes, wherein Hagen greatest asset of a great pitcher his characteristic finishes.

yards with a drive that was twenty yards over the pin, but that was as far as the rally got. Sarazen forced the issue thereafter. By virtue of an exhibition the real took courage to stem the dater that thereafter. By virtue of an exhibition took something more than courage to of the game that was both potent and come out of that Berserker onslaught thereafter. By virtue of an exhibition of the game that was both potent and crafty Gene wore Walter out, hammered him down and finally knocked him out of time on the sixteenth sreen, the seventieth of the match.

Sarazen is both open and professional champion, but the gods of golf are no less fickle than those who atand on the side lines and offer homage to the reigning monarch. Hagen, with the British emblem in his keeping, was conceded to have his full share of the honors. Many believed that he still was more than a match for the former Apawamis caddie boy in hand to hand combat. Hagen has often played better than he did yesterday, but there is no denying Sarazen full credit for his victory. Oftentimes the opponent's game has a distinct and direct bearing on an individual's golf. The facts of this match are incontrovertible. They are these: Hagen was beaten at his own game. Unbelievable as it may seem, he was outdriven, no occasionally, but consistently. And in addition he was outapproached.

Sarazen's Great Season.

Sarazen's Great Season.

Considering his age, for he is but twenty-one, Sarazen by this victory rounds out what without doubt is the greatest season enjoyed by a star in American golf. For in addition to his medal and match play successes in the open championship at Skokie and in the P. G. A. tourney at Oakmont it has also to be remembered that he has defeated the Big Three one after the other. Jim Barnes went down before little Gene in a match played over the Homestead links, down there on the New Jersey coast. Then in the P. G. A. Sarazen beat Joek Hutchison. Now comes Hagen, the greatest of them all without a doubt, Hagen the lion hearted,

Continued on Page Three.

McQuillan had a good curve ball, he had a fair slow ball, he showed fair to middling control. It was not so much his stuff as the courseous way in which he stood up while Bill Ryan and Claud Jonnard were warming up feverishly in the builpen, which brought a well deserved triumph to the young right hander.

In all, Hughle gave only eight hits. And none of these went to Babe Ruth, who had only a pais to show for his day's work with the bat. It took something to pitch to Ruth in the first with two on and nobody out. It took something to face the mauler with Witt on second and only one out it does something to face the mauler with Witt on second and only one out did Carl Mays.

But it must be conceded that the Tankees made his task less onerous through their stupid base running and to stem the surging tide of Giant triumph

Abraham Lincoln was born in a los cabin in the backwoods of Kentucky. McQuillan was born amid the precipitant chimney pots of a thickly populated island of brick canyons, HAGEN BY 3 AND 2 There's a parallel there. For a great hurler to come out of the few and scattered sandlots of a metropolis is a rarity indeed. Circleville, Kan.; Ridgway, N. C.; Cedartown, Ga.;

bring to light the Titans of the mound. But yesterday on the rainsoaked field at the Polo Grounds, under battleship gray skies which wept a fitting accompaniment to the failure of the apparently forlorn Yankees, it was New York's own in a world series courage. It took courage, indeed, to fight back at the furlous Yankees, who, Walter won the first hole of 280 yards kept at bay for four days, were de-

Herald Board Ready for Fifth Game;

the Glants and Yankees meet to-day in the fifth game of the world series The New York Herald's electrically controlled player board will again be in operation and THE HERALD baseball experts also will continue to tell the radio fans their play by play story of the struggle from the Polo Grounds. It's all up to the weather man and the success of his assaults on the playing field at the Polo Grounds. THE HERALD "playing field" in Chambers street at Broadway, over-looking City Hall Park, is entirely unaffected by the weather conditions, and there isn't a lame arm in the operating force, while our expert staff at the Polo Grounds came through yesterday's dampness without a single sore throat. So it is only necessary for the elements to permit actual playing of the game for these two groups again to swing into

Experts Again to Broadcast Story